

249 BILLIONS COST OF WAR

Over 24 Billions, America's Share, Not Counting Lives and Ships Lost.

The world war cost an amount equal to the entire wealth of the American nation. Figures available yesterday reveal that when the armistice was signed November 11, war expenditures aggregated approximately $249,000,000,000. The wealth of the United States is estimated at $255,000,000,000.

Interest on this debt, based on the latest reports from European countries, will total nearly $60,000,000 a year. The interest rate averages approximately 4 1/2 per cent in the countries which sold interest-bearing bonds. The central powers' method of selling bonds made their interest rate a little higher. The apparent gain is made up by the part of the war cost collected in taxes.

Our Share 24 Billions.

America's share of the cost when fighting ceased was $21,000,000,000 but Treasury officials said yesterday that figure reached $24,600,000,000 when the new year began.

Expenditures of the allies during their four years of fighting was estimated here at $147,000,000,000, and adding the war cost of the United States to this, it is shown that $168,000,000,000 was the size of the money weapon turned against Prussianism.

Germany spent $17,500,000,000 directly on her military program, reports from German publicists show. Of this sum she borrowed more than $8,000,000,000 in long term loans.

The expenditures of Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria have never been separated in reports leaked through the censorship, but Treasury statisticians place their war cost at $33,000,000,000. European estimates, however, recently have been as high as $37,000,000,000 for Germany's share.

While the figures given represent the direct cost of the war, officials explain that they cannot be pointed to in any way as the actual cost. No computation can be made, of course, of the economic loss to the nations involved; nor can the growth of wealth which could naturally have been expected, had not the four years of fighting occurred, be estimated.

Marine Loss Secret.

Marine losses of the allies and of the United States and vessels never has been made public, in dollars, by any of the nations. These will run into billions on the cargoes and ships alone, not to mention loss of life, it is said. The loss to the allies in not having use of the ships destroyed also represents a heavy charge on the debt side.

Cost in Detail.

A detailed statement of the cost of the war to the allies follows:

United States, $24,600,000,000; British Empire, $20,800,000,000; France, $22,700,000,000; Russia, $21,500,000,000; Italy, $12,000,000,000; Belgium, Serbia, Rumania, Portugal, $11,500,000,000.

Here's what it cost our enemies:

Germany, $17,500,000,000; Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, $33,000,000,000.

RENEW DRIVE TO GET QUOTA

Jewish Fund Lacks $15,000 of Being Put Over the Top.

With only three more days in which to secure subscriptions and pledges to make up this city's $50,000 quota to the national fund in the interest of the starving Jews in devastated Europe, the teams of workers rejuvenated by a day of rest will today earnestly renew their efforts to achieve their goal.

At 10:30 this morning captains of the various teams which have been assigned to cover the city will meet in the office of Simon Lyon, chairman of the local committee.

This will be an important meeting as careful plans will be laid to leave no possibilities uncovered which would aid the workers in securing the needed $15,000 which must be collected in small amounts inasmuch as the majority of the larger subscriptions have already been secured.

Particular emphasis was laid by Chairman Lyon last night on the plan of making pledges which may be fulfilled in two or three monthly payments.

With the holidays over the loyal women who have been soliciting subscriptions at theaters, hotels and department stores in the National Capital believe they will be able, possibly, to double the $1,000 record thus far achieved by them.

While one of the glowing features of the drive has been the assistance lent by non-Jews, it is urged by the committee that a more general response be made in behalf of the fund.

A good many checks were received by Mr. Lyon yesterday. Coming as they did on New Year Day their receipt undoubtedly had an encouraging effect on the workers.

Especially gratifying has been the returns obtained from the coupon publicity graciously given by the local newspapers.

There will be no special events planned during the next three days of the campaign. Instead there will modestly be waged as a persistent campaign of letters soliciting in the downtown district and those sections which have not as yet been fully gone over.

CAPITAL'S OLDEST "INHABITS" CELEBRATE NEW YEAR DAY

Members Go on Record as Favoring the Erection of a Triumphant Arch in the District at Their Annual Meeting.

Members of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants went on record as favoring an arch of triumph for the District yesterday at their annual New Year meeting held in the old Union engine house.

Resolutions approving the project offered by Henry L. Bryan were unanimously adopted by the association. The president was authorized to appoint a committee of five to co-operate with the representatives of other citizens' associations. The resolutions reads as follows:

Text of Resolution.

"That the Association of Oldest Inhabitants petition Congress to take immediate steps to erect in Washington on one of our principal thoroughfares, a marble or granite arch of triumph, of appropriate historical design, in commemoration of victory and of American heroism in the great world war for liberty.

"That the president be authorized to appoint a committee of five members to co-operate with the representatives of other citizens' organizations in presenting this resolution to the proper committees of Congress."

At the motion of Benjamin W. Reiss, recording secretary, it was decided to record the names of the sons and grandsons of members who served during the war, and to have the framed list hung on the wall of the engine house. Mr. Reiss read a list of the boys in blue and khaki and asked that members submit to the secretary such names as had been omitted. Another month will be given in which to submit the names members desire to see on the list.

The meeting was well attended despite the rain and unpleasant weather, and the assembly room was well filled when the meeting was called to order by Theodore W. Noyes, president of the association. Mr. Noyes wished the members of the association a happy and prosperous New Year.

SUFFS START BLAZE, HELD FOR U.S. CONTROL

Routed from White House, Five Women Try Lafayette Square.

Five suffs of the National Woman's party, who aided in lighting the fires in the stone urn near the center of Lafayette Square last evening, following the attempt of suffrage leaders to burn President Wilson's European utterances on democracy in front of the White House, were promptly arrested by local police.

Later they were released as no charges were filed against them. Alice Paul, chairman of the Women's National party; Rose Conlon, of Denver, Col.; Hazel Hunkins, of Montana; Edith Alinge, of Jamestown, N. Y.; and Julia Emory, of Baltimore, were the women arrested. The arrests occurred after the second attempt to burn the President's words during the afternoon, was made.

Crowd Takes Hand.

The first demonstration, which was held in front of the White House, had broken up when the audience, infuriated by the remarks of one of the speakers became a mob and dashed the blazing cauldron to the sidewalk.

The leaders who were later arrested, immediately planned the Lafayette Square speech pyre. A relief watch of the women still carried on the demonstration in front of the White House every two hours during the night, in order to keep the torch-lights burning.

Delegates will be appointed in Philadelphia today to come to Washington to guard the watchfire on Pennsylvania Day. Other delegations will be sent from Colorado, Georgia, Delaware, New York and Maryland.

GIRL, 12, KILLS "BAD MAN;" GIVES SELF UP

Shoots Offender Twice, Then Strangles with Clothline.

New York, Jan. 1.—Twelve-year-old Filomena Gambina spent the first day of the new year in custody because she had killed a "bad man." The "bad man," Tommaso Troia, 33, who lived next door, attacked her in her home while her father was away last night, she told the police.

Troia seized her when she responded to a knock on the door, but she broke away. She ran to a bureau and seized her father's revolver. The "bad man" attempted to seize her again and she fired at him. The first bullet missed him. The second penetrated his heart.

Little Filomena wanted to make sure Troia was dead. She got a clothline with which to strangle him. She sat beside the body for three hours, watching for a sign of life. Then satisfied that the "bad man" would no longer molest her, she hunted up a policeman and gave her self up. She is technically charged with "juvenile delinquency" until her story can be thoroughly investigated.

ARMY OF OCCUPATION IN VERY GOOD HEALTH

Americans Requisition Two German Civilian Hospitals at Coblenz.

American Headquarters in Germany, Jan. 1.—The army of occupation is in better health than the folks back home. For the few who are sick there are the best of hospital facilities.

Despite their 300-mile march through mud and rain the soldiers average less than one man ill in a hundred, from any cause, according to Col. Gussner, chief surgeon. The sick rate is thus under one per cent, which is about one-half the normal percentage in civilian life.

In spite of the inclement weather there is very little pneumonia. Excellent hospital accommodations are available throughout the bridgehead area. In Coblenz two finely equipped German military hospitals have been requisitioned and two civilian hospitals also have been taken over. The staffs include more than a hundred nurses. In addition to their regular duties they are in great demand for dances.

One German hospital is still caring for a number of badly wounded German soldiers. The staff was permitted to remain.

Last Wet New Year Celebrated in Montreal

Montreal, Jan. 1.—Montreal, the only "wet" city in Canada, was the mecca of New Year celebrants and 1919 was inaugurated with old-fashioned revelry with added rejoicing on account of peace and the safe return of thousands of soldiers.

Hotels, cabarets and theaters were thronged until the early morning hours. An extra quantity of wine was opened on the theory that this would be the last wet New Year, as prohibition goes into effect on May 1.

Hog Cholera Costs Farms $188,448,643 in 4 Years

Although present losses from hog cholera are steadily increasing, the ravages of the disease during the past four years cost the American farmer the enormous sum of $188,448,643.

Secretary Houston has conveyed this information to Representative Sims in a letter emphasizing the need of continued and general State cooperation in the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to eradicate animal diseases in general. The monetary loss represents the death or destruction of 38,890 hogs as a direct result of the disease.

Secretary Houston looks for further reduction of losses in 1919 but points out that in the great States of New York, Pennsylvania and Washington no co-operative work is being conducted. Owing to the increased value of pork, the money loss will still be large, even with the disease under control.
